INTRODUCTION

As part of our ongoing commitment to workplace well-being, the Malaysian Employers Federation in collaboration with PERKESO and the Department of Occupational Safety and Health (DOSH) is organizing a seminar to support our members in understanding and implementing effective Occupational Health programs at their workplaces. This initiative places special emphasis on Section 28 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act 1994, which highlights the importance of providing Occupational Health Services to safeguard employees' health. By referencing the relevant Industry Code of Practice and guidelines published by DOSH, Malaysia, this platform will guide employers in establishing structured and proactive Occupational Health Management systems. A well-implemented program not only ensures legal compliance but also fosters a healthier, safer, and more productive work environment. Through this seminar, we aim to empower our members with the knowledge and tools needed to cultivate a strong culture of occupational health and safety across all sectors.

The aim of this seminar is:

- Understand the legal requirements for occupational health.
- Understand the relevant industry code of practice and guidelines (i.e. Guidelines on Psychosocial Risk Assessment and Management at the Workplace) related to occupational health in the workplace.
